NO. 10

CHRISTMAS.

As we close the door of our sanctum and gently rest our dainty little number nines on our editorial table we can think of no more fitting subject to strike with our quivering fountain pen than Christmas.

Christmas is observed by all civilized nations and is celebrated with as much vim and vigor in Loachapoka as it is in Kalamazoo. It is a festive season especially dear to college men, for it means to them home and a groaning table on which they will see some old acquaintances of times past. We earnestly hope to meet our sometime friend, Mr. A. Turkey, at ours, and you will probably meet some of the same charming and accomplished family at yours.

On or about December 23rd, if we survive the pestelential and soul-searching examinations, we expect to barter a few of our most precious coonskins with the agent of a predatory monopoly that condescends, for a due consideration, to carry us back to the old farm, for a small rectangular, parallelepiped of pasteboard. If we are successful in our trading we will pack our two clean collars and three handkerchiefs, should we be so fortunate as to have them returned to us, in our portmanteau, scatter care and our boardbill to the winds, and bid Auburn farewell for a season. We are even now busily engaged in making out a short list of some fifty-seven articles we wish to find in the pantry when we reach home—these fifty-seven, we might add, range all the way from dill pickles to pumpkin pie.

We are going to hang up a large sock this Christmas and ask Santa Claus to bring us another football team like the one he brought us last year.

The days are going to fly by on wings, so, before we know it, we will be journeying over the road again breathing smoke and cinders.

So here's to you, one and all, a merry Christmas, a happy New Year and luck be with you till we meet again.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS—REG- ULAR PROGRAM POSTPONED.

At the regular meeting of the Agricultural Club held last Friday night the following officers were elected to serve for the next term:

President, F. E. Boyd.
Vice President, C. L. Hollingsworth.
Treasurer, C. E. Newman.
Critic, O. D. Allbritten.
Librarian, W. H. Tisdale.

The officers will assume their new duties after the holidays and will guide the destinies of the club for the next term.

The usual program was postponed until the next regular meeting.

A CORRECTION.

I take this opportunity to correct a statement made in the last issue of the Orange and Blue.

I am not captain of the 1914 basketball team. The captain of said team has not yet been elected. EDWIN E. CLEMENTS.

WANTED—The name of the man who first called Ben Andrews "Judge Peavine." The affair has lasted long enough; and, although we don't think Ben is "sore" about it, we are.

NEW PASTOR FOR METH- ODIST CHURCH.

At the annual session of the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Rev. J. W. Frazier was appointed to fill the local pulpit. Rev. Mr. Frazier is a comparatively young man and has been in the Conference about six years. He brings his wife with him to Auburn, and we sincerely hope that they will find their surroundings pleasant and agreeable.

The coming of a new pastor necessitates the going of the former one, and we feel no hesitancy in saying that "Mr. James" will be sadly missed. Not that our new pastor is not more lovable, but that Mr. James is better known to us. He always had a sermon teeming with worthy thoughts, and his simple way of presenting them made him the most interesting minister we have ever known.

The good wishes of the people of Auburn will follow him wherever he may go, and the respect and high regard of the student body will always be his. If the people of Marion, where he is to be stationed this year, are not willing to vote against the four year law, when they come to know him as we do, then we will be sadly disappointed. We hate to appear selfish, but we would be perfectly satisfied if he stayed here forever.

All we have said about Mr. James we mean, and only wish we knew more to add to it. Dr. Dannelly, who has been presiding elder of the Montgomery district, has been stationed at First Church, Selma. He is another one we hate to lose, and are sure he will soon find a place in the hearts of his new people, as he did in ours. His place will be filled by Dr. C. A. Rush.

SOCIETIES ELECT OFFICERS.

The Wirt and Websterian Societies held their last regular meetings before the holidays Saturday night and concluded all of their first term business. The Wirts elected the following officers for next term: D. D. Gibson, President; J. R. Simms, Vice-President; J. T. High, Secretary; J. H. White, Treasurer; J. A. Parrish, Critic, and W. J. Foxworth, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Websterians, in addition to the officers, elected S. A. B. Wilkinson and W. E. Rush as their representatives in the Inter-Society Oratorical Contest on February 22. The following officers were also elected: J. R. Campbell, President; W. L. White, Vice-President; S. A. B. Wilkinson, Secretary; P. Minnis, Treasurer; D. T. Ware, Chaplain; R. M. Martin, Critic; W. E. Rush, Monitor. Chairmen of committees were appointed by the new President as follows: Program, W. L. White, ex-officio; Parliamentary Drill, G. W. Holley; Membership, L. J. Howell was appointed chairman of a committee, in accordance with the provisions of a motion, to revise and draw up the Constitution. The Society also extended a vote of thanks to their debating team for their grand efforts in the recent Inter-Society Debate.

LOCAL TALENT PLAY A SUCCESS.

One of the most successful amateur theatricals which has ever engaged the attention of the amusement-goers in Auburn was pulled off on Friday night last when Mrs. Wilmore presented for the benefit of the local School Improvement Fund, the comedy, "Tommy's Wife." Many interesting complications were enacted before the audience and round after round of applause greeted those who were the principals in the various situations. The hits of the evening's entertainment were Bidez, who played the leading role, and Oscar Boza, who played the part of Frenchman. Boza, as the typical Frenchman, received his laugh as promptly as any experienced player could desire who happened to be skilled in amusing his audience. Bidez, as the promising young artist of Paris, showed a versatility that was distinctive and showed no small amount of talent. Miss Wilmore's interpretation of her part was nearly perfect. Miss Olive Steadham, as the wealthy widow, carried the part in a pleasing style. The others who took part in the play acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner and only failed to star because of the fact that they were not before the audience as long or in as catchy parts as the other members of the cast.

The cast of the play was as follows: Thomas Puttman Carothers, (a promising young portrait painter), P. R. Bidez; Rose Carothers (his sister), Miss Sibbie Moore; Dick Grannis (young lawyer and chum of Carothers), H. H. Sterling; Mrs. De Yarbrough Smith (a wealthy widow), Miss Olive Steadham; Sylvia (her daughter), Miss Lannie Steadham; Pierre De Bouton (a young Frenchman in love with Rose Carothers), Oscar Boza; Patty Campbell (who resides on the floor above Carothers' Studio and who falls in love with Carothers), Miss Anna Wilmore; Edith Bronson (who is interested in giving Charity Plays), Miss Marye Beasley.

Prof. Dunstan (to "Marc" Crenshaw, with slide rule): The square root of 16 is what?
"Marc," (working rule): 3.9999
Professor, I guess you may call that 4.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

A large appreciative audience attended the first concert in Auburn of our famed Glee Club on Saturday night in Langdon Hall. The ease and freedom with which the fellows sang was very noticeable, which showed up to a finish the careful training that they have received during the year. The spirit of the entire programme was catching and was in marked accord with the victory of our football team, which, as a matter of fact, was the theme for the hit of the evening, "Yale Boola."

One of the chief attractions of the club's work this year is its originality, which is distinctive of the Auburn spirit, and has helped much in making the club a success. The voices of the club blended in a superb manner, making the various intonations and tone effects very complete.

The individual work of the evening was done to a nicety. Round after round of applause greeted the performers in their endeavors to please their audience. Bidez sang in excellent voice. His solo was one in which tone color was necessary, and which he accomplished in a very pleasing manner. Stapleton's clog dancing was around here, "I reckon." It was done in real old "Plantation Nigger" style. In this individual work it was the hit of the evening. "Johnny" Howard's singing came as a close second to Stapleton's dancing, the accompaniment as played by "Fig" Newton added much to its effectiveness. Prof. Bauer's work showed excellent technique and in its classic character stood out most prominent in the programme of the evening. Prof. Bauer's touch and quality of expression were nearly as perfect as any of the audience present will ever have the privilege of hearing. The club was aided very materially by their accompanist, Miss Willie Thomas.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM RECEIVES CONGRAT- ULATIONS.

We read with great pleasure the articles from the Red and Black of Georgia, the Technique of Ga. Tech., and the Crimson White of Alabama, congratulating us on our championship football team.

We are especially glad to note that there were no excuses made when the Auburn team came out of different games victorious, as we know, and our opponents know, that the best team won.

We hope that this spirit will always exist between us, as it makes all the Southern Colleges friendly rivals, instead of enemies.

You will have to hand it to this team, because every opponent they had this year was an undefeated team, and also a contender for the championship.

A FAT MAN'E EVENING.

You sing a little song or two,
You have a little chat,
You make a little candy fudge,
And then you take your hat.

You hold her hand and say goodnight
As sweetly as you can.
Ain't that the deuce of an evening,
For a great big healthy man?

AUBURN ALA., DECEMBER 13, 1913.

Before we again go to press, a new year will have been ushered in; and with it, all the new ideals, the new plans and the new hopes of our student body.

This year, which is rapidly drawing to a close, has been an exceptionally prosperous one for Auburn. Between the largest enrollment ever recorded, a championship football eleven, and a general improvement in the tone of its students, A. P. T. stands today the foremost institution of its class in the South.

We are going home for the Christmas holidays, and we are planning each minute of our two weeks' recess, but let us not forget the business in hand. Examination are upon us, and are destined to stay for the following ten days. It is up to us to put forth all our efforts, in an honest endeavor to finish well up in the race. We must bear in mind that we want to return to Auburn, after our brief vacation; but that, unless we do our best, we may not be able to do so.

Often we hear men say that they would have done better had they ever studied. Just here we wish to appeal to every man in College, and ask him to put his heart into his work, and not to go to any of his examinations unprepared. Studying, in itself, is the easiest known work, but if one's interests are elsewhere, it becomes extremely irksome.

So, let's temporarily forget her, and concentrate all our energies on these tests. Home means a great deal to any man, but a happy home means everything to him. If we work hard, and do the square thing, we'll pull ourselves over by a wide margin, and feel so much better in the doing. Let's try.

We wish to express to all Auburn supporters our good wishes. May the future years bring them in abundance the joys and pleasures of life. We trust that their hopes and ambitions may be realized; their mistakes and failures wiped out; their vision of life broadened, and their faith strengthened.

May their portion of the favorite bird be the choicest; may their Christmas be the merriest of their life, and may their New Year be the happiest they have ever known. This is our sincere hope and wish, and we believe that it will not be in vain.

THE OBSERVER.

(By Overstreet.)

A gook is a man who thinks that he can learn four months of "Swing-Swang's" Physics the night before the exam. We would advise any partaker of this course not to be a gook. Cramming the night before is pretty certain to result in a bad case of indigestion.

Two more weeks until vacation. Then we'll leave this old plantation; Walk the streets to the Auburn station, And board a train for civilization.

Two (or more) thieves, bandits, robbers, or "yeggs" entered the store of Wright & Co. on Sunday night, and in addition to quite considerable "change," carried off a telephone and an Auburn pennant—probably meaning to give a football matinee. The robbers are described by "Crow"—who did not see them—as between the heights of 4 and 8 feet (each), either black or white, about 15 or 50 years old, presumably wearing clothes at the time of the robbery. Despite the good description given, the "m'tectives" have been unable to locate the guilty parties, according to reports as we go to press.

The cross-country run Saturday was a success in every way and quite a good deal of interest was shown by both contestants and spectators. The time of 41 minutes was exceptionally good, considering the fact that the course was the roughest five miles in the state of Alabama and also that it was raining during the race.

The Glee Club concert was enjoyed by all and served to break the monotony, existing as a calm just before the storm. All of the numbers were heartily applauded, especially the adaption of the "Boola" song and the "Auburn Loyalty." Now, why can't we learn the loyalty song and use it? We haven't a single song which we can use at a game to advantage except that "Glory, Glory" gag which Georgia, completely disgusted us with. Vanderbilt has a dandy song, Tech a good one—and they sing them. We have a good one—and we don't sing it. Why?

Don't forget the basketball question. We must have a good team this year.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The first regular business meeting of the Engineering Society was held in Brown Hall auditorium, Wednesday night at 7:00 p. m. The prime object of the meeting was the election of officers.

After a brief discussion as to the plans for the year, by Prof. Brown, and some remarks by Prof. Wilmore, the election of officers was taken up, and the following men were elected: J. R. Lester, President; C. S. Noble, Senior Vice-President; E. S. McKissick, Junior Vice-President; H. G. Carter, Secretary; Prof. W. B. Stokes, Treasurer.

Those elected to serve on the Executive Council were: Prof. R. L. Brown, Prof. B. A. Wooten, Mr. C. B. Moore, Mr. J. M. Oliver.

J. M. Johnson, class '12, is at the Bureau of Plant Industry in Utah, Ala.

H. M. Brittain, '13, is in the general merchandise business with his father at Roanoke, Ala.

Roy M. Lilly, '12, is doing engineering work at Lucas, La.

"OUR OFFICE BOY'S PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE."

Did it ever occur to you that a man's life is full of crosses and temptations? He comes into the world without his consent and goes out against his will and the trip between is exceedingly rocky. The rule of contraries is one of the features of the trip.

When he is little the big girls kiss him, when he is big the little girls kiss him. If he needs credit he can't get it, if he is prosperous everyone wants to do him a favor. If he is rich he is dishonest, if he is poor he is a bad manager.

If he takes an active interest in religion he is a hypocrite, if he does not he is a hardened sinner. If he is in politics it is for graft, if he takes no interest in politics he is no good to the country. If he is rich everyone wants to do him a favor, if he needs credit he can't get it. If he lives to old age he missed his calling, if he died young there was a great future before him.

If you get money you are a grafter, If you don't get it you are a bum, If you spend it you are a loafer, SO WHAT'S THE USE?

—J. H. W., '15.

vertise the Club and activities of the Club. He shall issue programs and keep the community well informed as to the work of the Club. He shall advertise dates of plays and give advance notices whenever necessary.

Property Man.—He shall take care of all stage settings and costumes and keep track of all property owned by the Club. He will be held responsible for all rented property and for a satisfactory return and the preservation of all such material. He will present an inventory of the property of the Club at the end of each year. He shall also be Librarian and attend to the getting of all necessary copies of plays and other books for the use of the Club.

Executive Committee.—They shall act in the capacity of advisory board to the Director, and shall settle all disputes that may arise in the Club. They shall elect auditors for all offices once a year or as often as deemed necessary. They will also perform all other duties heretofore and hereinafter mentioned. They shall enforce the obedience to the rulings of the Director and shall see that the Constitution is enforced. They will hold each man responsible for the duties of his office.

ARTICLE V.
Meetings.

The Club will meet once every week, or oftener when deemed necessary. The place and time of these meetings will be determined by the members each week.

ARTICLE VI.
Elections.

All officers shall be elected at the last meeting of the scholastic year for the following year. The officers shall be elected by ballot and the nominee receiving the highest number of votes for each office will be declared elected.

ARTICLE VII.
Fees and Fines.

Section 1. An entrance fee of fifty cents shall be charged each member and each man shall be held responsible for providing himself the necessary books.

Section 2. A fine of five cents shall be charged each member who is ten minutes or more late to a meeting. A fine of ten cents shall be charged each member who is absent. (An absence shall be taken to mean coming into the meeting twenty minutes or more late or not coming at all.) These fines are to be imposed unless a satisfactory explanation is given to the President.

ARTICLE VIII.
Quorum.

A quorum shall consist of ten members present at any meeting.

ARTICLE IX.
Special Meetings.

Special meetings shall be called at the direction of the President or Director, or upon the application to the President of five or more members.

ARTICLE X.
Filling Vacancies.

In the case of permanent absence or the resignation of the President, the Vice-President shall succeed to this office. In case of permanent absence or resignation of both President and Vice-President, or any other officer, a new election shall be held for that office.

ARTICLE XI.

Qualifications for Officers.

The President and Vice-President shall be chosen from representative members of the Senior Class, other officers may be selected from members at large.

ARTICLE XII.
Penalties.

Section 1. Any member who is absent two successive meetings or any three meetings in one term shall be dropped from the roll.

Section 2. Any members failing to learn part in a play in a specified play shall be ineligible for part in that play.

ARTICLE XIII.

Impeachment.

Any officer failing to discharge his duties as prescribed by this Constitution, or found not to be working for the best interest of the Club, may be impeached by the unanimous consent of the remaining members of the Executive Committee. Impeachment proceedings may be instituted by Director, three members of the Executive Committee or by a written petition of five other members of the Club. All impeachment proceedings will be held strictly secret and no facts divulged.

ARTICLE XIV.

Amendments to the Constitution.

Any member desiring to amend the Constitution shall lay his amendment before the Executive Committee in writing, if approved by them, the amendment will be submitted to the members of the Club at its next meeting and held on the table open for the perusal of the members for one week. Then, if two-thirds of the members present are in favor of it, it shall at once become a part of the Constitution.

VETERINARY MEETING.

There was a regular meeting of the Veterinary Medical Association last Tuesday night.

A long program had been arranged, though part of it was postponed, due to the fact that Dr. McAdory was present and kindly responded when called on for a lecture, it being left with him to choose his subject. He complimented the most honorable president and other officers on the work being done this year by the association and the interest that is taken in the meetings.

He also emphasized the fact that each and every veterinary student should attend these weekly meetings.

Dr. McAdory's subject for the evening was Castration, and it was covered well from every point of view.

Dr. Ogletree, L. K., was next on the program. He delivered before the association a paper on Colic, taking up in order the etiology, symptoms, diagnosis, differential diagnosis and treatment.

This was one of the best meetings this year. Everyone enjoyed it and was benefited by the subjects that were under discussion.

Last week, during the Farmers' Union meeting, the representatives visited the Veterinary Department one afternoon when Dr. Cary gave a lecture on hog cholera, its detection and mode of prevention by the use of anti-hog cholera serum. There was also a demonstration given, showing how to inoculate the hogs.

The annual meeting of the Alabama Veterinary Medical Association will be held here some time in February.

Special Christmas boxes of cigars. Wright & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Martin entertained on Thursday their friends at a Progressive Domino party. The home was artistically decorated in Christmas colors. A delicious salad course was served during the game. Those present were: Prof. and Mrs. M. J. Donahue, Colonel and Mrs. B. S. Patrick, Miss Mae Harvey, Prof. and Mrs. Fred Messick, Prof. and Mrs. B. L. Shi, Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Hare, Mrs. J. B. Hobdy, Prof. and Mrs. R. L. Brown, Prof. and Mrs. George S. Templeton, Prof. and Mrs. Ernest Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, Misses Winstons, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Thach, Mrs. A. L. Dillard, Miss Louie Dillard, Miss Susie Wright, Mr. and Mrs. U. V. Jones, Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Hill, Miss Florence Casey, Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Wiatt, Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Ross, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Prof. and Mrs. G. N. Mitcham and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Martin.

Norris and Guth Candy for Christmas. Wright & Co.

Prof. L. N. Duncan is visiting Walker, Jefferson and Franklin counties, securing their co-operation in the Boys' and Girls' club work. Mrs. Birdie I. Robinson is in Conecuh, Jefferson, DeKalb and St. Clair Counties securing their co-operation in the Boys' and Girls' Club work of the State.

Christmas cigars from Wright & Co.

Dr. W. E. Hinds, accompanied by the field agent of the Entomological Department G. W. Ellis, spent the week-end in Prattville, making some investigations as to the ravages of the corn weevil in the storage of winter corn.

Judge and Mrs. Drury, of Griffin, Ga., spent several days during the past week in Auburn, transacting business.

Mrs. Crawford Howard, of Tuskegee, and Mrs. Nielson, of Tennessee, spent Tuesday in Auburn.

The Clover Club met at the home of Mrs. G. N. Mitcham on Tuesday afternoon. An interesting discussion on art was held and delicious refreshments served.

Mrs. A. H. Buchanan entertained informally on Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. E. H. Agnew.

Dr. J. T. Anderson and Dr. B. B. Ross have returned from attending the session of the Methodist Conference at Montgomery.

For Christmas buy Norris and Guth Candy from Wright & Co.

You will have Mr. Opportunity if you Miss Judge and Miss Guth or Miss Norris, for they are here for Christmas with Wright & Co. Norris and Guth candy, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble, of Columbia, Ala., spent Sunday with Mrs. Clay Armstrong.

Miss Sarah Evans, of Montgomery, spent several days with Miss Anna Wilmore, last week.

Anyone desiring perfect home-made washing done, had best see Mr. A. T. Feaster. He has just installed an electric-light-cord clothes line in his room, and added a new combined washing and wringing machine to his apparatus. Non-destruction of buttons and shirt sleeves guaranteed.

Minister—Young man, do you know how to dance?

Young Man—Well, Parson, I know the holds, but I don't know the steps.—Life.

Auburn is on the map, geographically, educationally and athletically. What else could we wish?

Morality and success go hand in hand.

The year of 1913 saw the passing of two of the greatest football stars the south has ever seen, Newell of Auburn, and McWhorter of Georgia. As to which was the greater player we have nothing to say. There is honor enough for both and no all-southern team would be complete without either. It is easy to say how Auburn feels. We wouldn't give our "Kirk" for a whole team of McWhorters. And in looking over the stars let us not forget "Red" Harris, who, by his terrific line plunging, caved Georgia's line in a way to make "a brick wall look like tissue paper." He was the individual star of the game and we defy any sonofagun who runs a newspaper to pick anyone else for all-southern fullback.
